OVERVIEW

Cultural tourism is the subset of tourism focused on a destination's culture, especially its arts. Cultural tourism includes tourism in urban areas, particularly historic or large cities and their cultural facilities such as museums and theatres. It can also include tourism to rural areas; for outdoor festivals, the houses of famous writers and artists, sculpture parks, and landscapes made famous in literature.

Economic Development is the process of developing and maintaining suitable economic, social and political environments, in which balanced growth may be realized, increasing the wealth of the community and improving the economic well being of a community through efforts that entail job creation, job retention, tax base enhancements and quality of life.

Arts Link to Tourism and the Economy (ALTE) applications are accepted annually through our standard grantmaking process. The program aims to support projects that promote a community's artistic resources through economic development and cultural tourism strategies. The Arts Commission plans to award up to 3 grants of up to $10,000 each to rural arts organizations or tribal communities for substantial projects. Collaborative projects between rural economic development or tourism organizations, rural arts organizations and/or tribal communities in Arizona are especially encouraged.

Applicants can verify their eligibility to apply for grants within this area on page 6 of the Overview document.

A Letter of Intent to Apply is required for all ALTE applicants. The Letter of Intent must highlight each of these points and must not exceed one page in length. Please note, some of these questions will be asked again within the official EGOR application.
